How much does a decision deferred for 90 days actually cost?

KEY INSIGHT

Leaders fear making bad decisions.

They should fear even more the decisions that never get made.
Every postponed choice freezes budget, slows teams and creates a hidden cost — invisible until the day it becomes strategic.

BOARD QUESTION

What important decision has been discussed for over three months without being made — and what is the real cost of that deferral?

EXEC'IA CONVICTION

An imperfect decision creates momentum.

An absent decision creates stagnation.

Do 20% of your managers' time truly create value?

KEY INSIGHT

Your most experienced people are absorbed by meetings, reporting, validations and information searches.

The issue is not wasted time.

The issue is value that is never created.

BOARD QUESTION

If you gave your top 5 managers one extra day per week, where would you invest that time?

EXEC'IA CONVICTIO

Productivity gains have no value until transformed into better decisions.

What part of your company would retire tomorrow?

KEY INSIGHT

3 experts may hold 80% of your company's critical knowledge.

That knowledge lives in no document.

It lives in a few people's heads — shortcuts, judgments, intuitions.

When they leave, the ability to decide accurately leaves with them.

BOARD QUESTION

If 3 people left tomorrow, which decisions would become impossible to make?

EXEC'IA CONVICTION

Knowledge transfer is not an HR matter.

It is a strategic continuity matter.

At what exact moment do your clients start disengaging?

KEY INSIGHT

Clients almost never leave abruptly.

They accumulate micro-disappointments, then make a silent decision.
Most companies detect this decision several weeks too late — long after the lost client has moved on.

BOARD QUESTION

What are the 3 moments where a client decides to stay or leave — and are you observing them today?

EXEC'IA CONVICTION

*One lost client is worth more than 100 leads.
What is not observed cannot be improved.*

Who is really making the decisions in your organisation?

KEY INSIGHT

Some decisions are made by tools.
Others by habits. Others still by experts no one questions.
10 projects running in parallel. 2 truly strategic.
The issue is not AI. The issue is control.

BOARD QUESTION

Which critical decisions should never be delegated — and which have already been, without your knowledge?

EXEC'IA CONVICTION

An organisation is well governed when it knows why it decides — not just how.

Decide with clarity.

In a world where AI rewrites the rules.

*Companies don't lack tools or information about AI.
They lack clarity on what truly deserves the attention — and the decision — of their Executive Committee.*
